DEAN HOWARD I. KALODNER
B.A., Haverford College
LL.B., Harvard University

Dear Graduate:

As you leave this Law School with dreams and ambitions, with your view facing forward and not back, I ask you to join with me for just one moment and reflect on these last three or four years of your life as a student of the law. Allow me to share with you something of what our intent has been so that you may now and in the future judge how we have succeeded, and how we have failed.

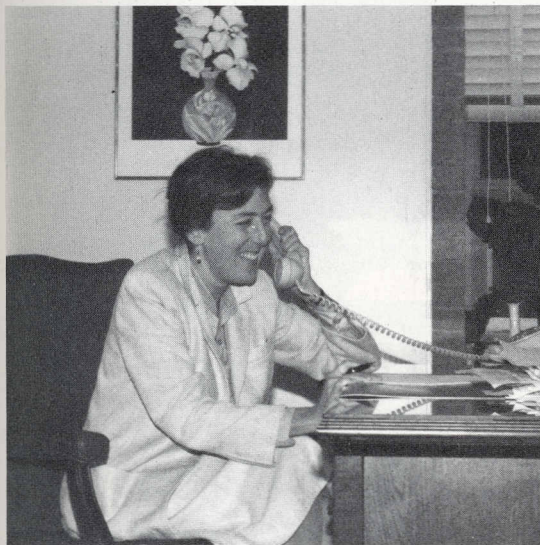

We strive at this Law School for a legal education which is characterized by the development of both intellectual and professional skills. Because we know most about the development of skills of analysis and the delivery of information about doctrine and concept, we have focused most of your time and attention to these bodies and aspects of knowledge. But in posing problems that have put you in the lawyer's role and more obviously in simulation and clinical courses, we have tried to introduce you to other skills you will need to develop as a lawyer. If you are to be an effective lawyer, your learning cannot stop with graduation. This has been only a beginning to your life-long study of the law.

I urge you to retain connections with this school. An active alumni, particularly one which participates energetically through the Law Alumni Association, is a valuable asset for us and I hope rewarding for you. We will ask you for help in sending us students, finding jobs for other graduates, contributing to our Annual Giving Campaigns. Most of all, we rely on you to spread the reputation of the Law School through your effectiveness as an attorney. As you go out, you carry our affection with you.

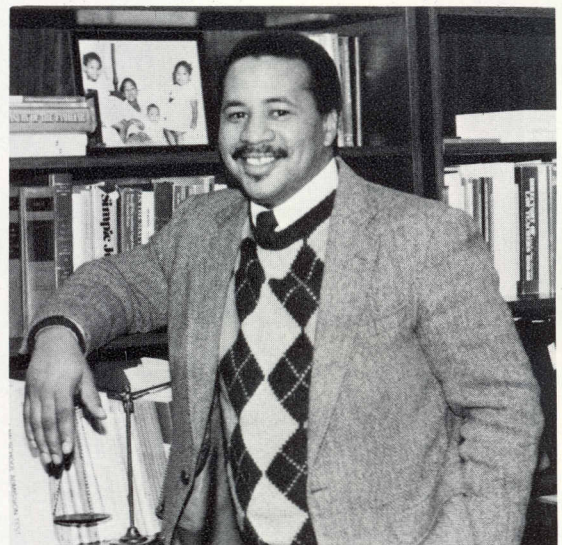

Dean Howard I. Kalodner

EVENING DIVISION SPECIAL

"A LONG and WINDING ROAD"

The Evening Division at W.N.E.C. is a group of masochists, suffering from malnutrition (the machine is out of change before we arrive, and the food selection is down to oranges and apples rejected by Stop and Shop or cottage cheese whose day has come and gone) and from exhaustion (what kind of person drives to Springfield from Albany, Athol, or New London for four years after working all day?). We appear to be a good-natured lot — always smiling. It's artificial! What else can you do when you have an exam conflict . . . Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday nights and they "resolve" it by moving Friday night's exam to Saturday morning, bright and early. (That was a ROYAL pain!) What else can you do with a course selection which always has Sales, Commercial Paper, Legal Professions and never has the promised Sports Law offering . . . or when you hear that Legal Documents is great and it disappears from the list? What else can you do when they change south side parking rules 3 times and put $10 parking tickets on your windshield, or when your shared locker is stuffed day and night by the day student? We just PRANCE around FILING (protests) and SMILING.

Night students would never do it again, but the tuition invested was a BINDER. Lawyering Process was the first hurdle; like farming a STONEFIELD. It was compared with a fraternity hazing, an archaic tribal rite and a few other unprintable observations. We were appreciative that Professors Adomeit, Bouchard, and O'Connor were part of our initiation. They were STERN, but human.

Our class has dwindled. We lost some good people. Where is Ken Lloyd or Martin Carle? We were a little jealous when Connie, Janice, Susan, Lynne, Hank, Hugh and John "accelerated" and left last May. We feel badly about leaving many friends behind. They knew taking more time showed some sanity! (Except Elton who will go on micro-waving M & M's and oranges.) Good luck to Mary, Tim, Sherida, Dennis, Tom, Dick, Bill, Malcolm, Leslie, Chuck and Gail, to name a few.

There are, of course, a multitude of things we'll never forget —

The Christmas party at Red Bridge — especially for those who had just "converted" the heart on the Torts exam.

Professor O'Connor screaming "Get Out!" to the fellow who tried to remove A-V equipment during class.

Leftovers in the lobby from social events for normal people.

Joan Antonino's dog being accepted at law school. ("It" cut more classes than John Brennan).

Professor Baker saying "In the last class . . .". His final won the "Most Horrible" award.

Bob Troxell's cartoon of Barry Stern.

Arriving in the snow and sleet to find class cancelled.

Keg parties.

Leslie Bennett's wardrobe.

Arthur Miller's tape — "Venue is peanuts in a world of elephants".

Joe Calve's sardonic comments, usually "on the mark".

The Golden L. Award, given at the end of each class to one who dominated the discussion, raised his/her hand first, asked a question as class was about to end, or made up hypotheticals for the professor. The impressive award was almost retired to the possession of one person, but others came forward to do one or more of the above.

Best Recitation: Alan Seewald and Linda Yelmini.

Least Likely to Volunteer: Take your pick . . . Bernadette, Michelle, Karen, Mary Jane, Beth, Ruth or me.

Always Prepared: Marilyn Lee and Rich Weber.

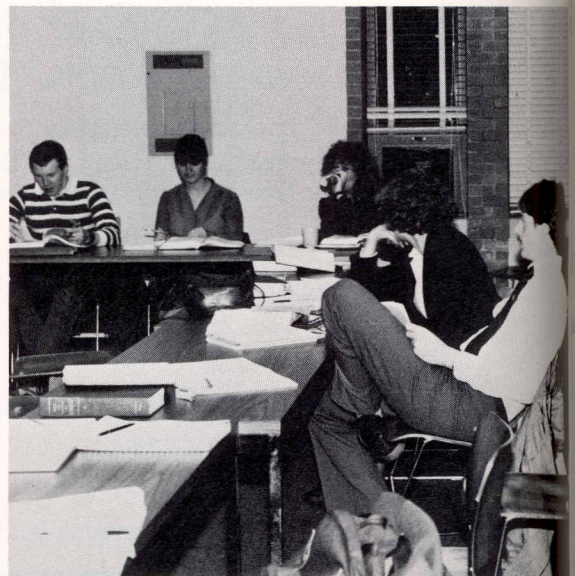

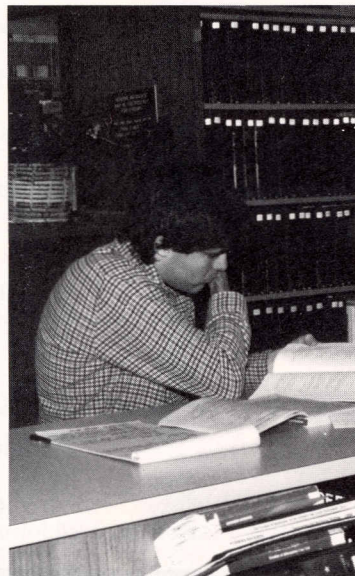

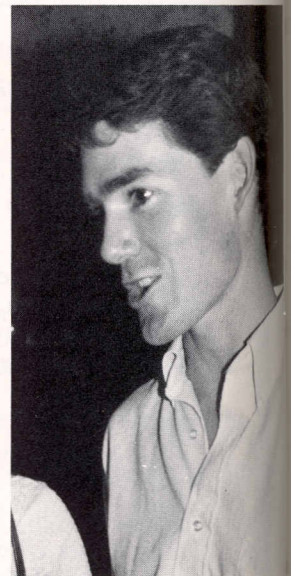

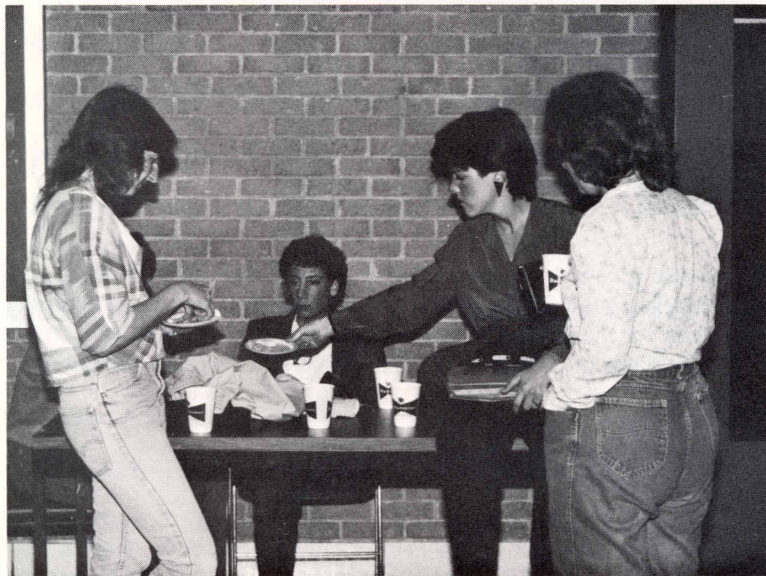

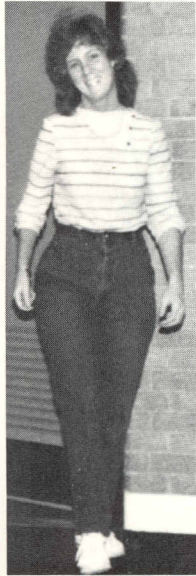

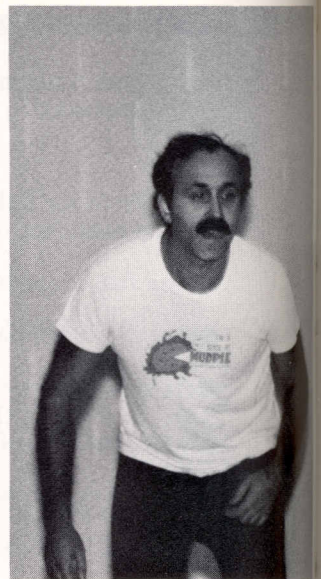

Best Last Year Observations: Dot Hare's "I just don't want to be here." and "If the Supreme Court comes up with 5-4 decisions, how should I know the better way to go?"

and the

Best Memory: "SUPER CLASSMATES!"

THE LAST WORD

This case is based on diversity jurisdiction because parts of the decedent were found in three different states. R. Lusardi, Fall '82.

Prosser? He's dead. D. Binder, Fall '82.

One of the few Constitutional provisions that seems to mean what it says. K. Werhan, Spring '84.

Does this give you any of the certainty you expected from this course but haven't gotten yet? J. Gordon, Spring '84.

Isn't this an application of a reasonable moron standard? D. Binder, Spring '83.

Comments, Questions? J. O'Connor, Fall '82.

It is a principle of statutory interpretation that statutory language is presumed to mean something. K. Werhan, Spring '84.

I like to keep the decedent boxed. J. Gordon, Spring '84.

Is it income? F. Royal, any term.

They have ethical considerations in Brooklyn, don't they? J. Schubert, Spring '84.

These cases in the book are as clear as they get, unfortunately. K. Werhan, Spring '84.

File and Smile! N. Prance, any term.

What did Hand hold? J. Basile, Spring '84.

Y'all know where my mind is . . . the silence indicates you're in agreement. J. Gordon, Spring '84.

Or we can act in the grand tradition of government and be totally arbitrary right from the start. K. Werhan, Spring '84.

The government makes a good point here. When the taxpayer dies, his tax year ends. F. Royal, Spring '84.

Good lawyers don't advertise . . . Well they do, but they do it in bars. K. DuBay, Spring '84.

Following section 9 is section 10. J. Basile, Spring '84.

An opportunity to be heard for the person about to get pounced on. K. Werhan, Spring 84.

Fair? D. Binder, Fall '82.

Do yourself a favor, pay your malpractice insurance. J. Schubert, Spring '84.

Can you believe it? The I.R.S. actually provides a service! J. Gordon, Spring '84.

Can a dog inherit? That's hard to say . . . it is an airedale . . . C. Hoheb, Spring '84.

(2)(b) or not (2)(b)? N. Prance, Spring '84.

Oh, you want me to answer that question too? Anonymous, Spring '84

C'mon, this is Wednesday, not Friday. J. Gordon, Spring '84.

And you wonder why lawyers drink. J. Schubert, Spring '84.

If my grades get any lower, I'll apply for a judgeship. Anonymous, Fall '82.

That's what you call the instinctive pass: I don't care what the question is, I'm passing. J. Basile, Spring '84.

I'm afraid I didn't read it. That's probably why I asked the question. M. Caggiano, Spring '84.

I talked to John (Egnal), and he said he was using it to help him understand choice of law on Mars. B. Miller, Fall '84.

What else is stare decisis for but to protect wrong decisions? B. Miller, Fall '84.

"Is it going to be on the exam?" Now that's taking the functional view! K. Werhan, Spring '84.

I know what you're thinking, just give me a 60 and get me the hell out of here! F. Royal, Spring '84.

I don't do family law. K. Huget, Tax of Property, Spring '84.

There are a couple of cases out in California involving the rights of goats in the Channel Islands. B. Miller, Fall '84.

If they let a railroad run past the Latch, I'm the first one to go for an injunction. B. Miller, Fall '84.

That's a very archane and tortured argument . . . You must have cut your teeth on Animal Farm or 1984. J. Gordon, Spring '84.

The lawyer that was advising her probably should have been under a conservatorship. J. Gordon, Spring '84.

The general tolling principles are not applicable here, except for legal stupidity. J. Basile, Spring '84.

The assignment involves delving into the jurisprudential values of Bruce Springsteen. Blackstone to Springsteen, an unbroken chain. B. Miller, Fall '84.

Argue against me! Go ahead! It's anonymous grading! F. Royal, Spring '84.

Well, now that we have ripped your argument to shreds, do you have anything else to say? K. Werhan, Fall '84.

I object! What? What do you mean I have to have a reason? Can't I just object? Anonymous, Fall '84.

For you graduating seniors . . . I was toying with the idea of having an option for you of one true/false question where you would get either a 99 or a 55. K. Werhan, Spring '84.

Far be it from me to object to the cosmic. B. Miller, Fall '84.

I'm so confused! Anonymous '82, '83, '84, '85.

Mr. Lynch, you have the last word. Pass. F. Royal and D. Lynch, Spring '84
