I extend my best wishes to the Western New England College School of Law on the initiation of your Law Review. Law Reviews provide valuable continuing commentary on the state and trends of the law. At times student articles, comments, and notes prove extremely valuable to the bar and courts. Even more important is the value of work on the professional development of law students. Your new undertaking will provide a valuable exercise for the intellectual growth of students at the Western New England College School of Law. I wish you success.
